In our current business environment, managing cybersecurity risks is of the utmost importance. Our own Tom Burton, Member of the firm's Corporate & Securities Section and Founder and Chair of the firm's Energy Technology Practice, was recently interviewed by Marcus McInnis, Director of Operations for Lockheed Martin's Cybersecurity Innovation Center, on this increasingly popular topic. In the interview, featured by ThreatReady Resources, Tom discusses the impact of data breaches in the M&A context, prevention methods, and more.
