

Law360's Immigration Editorial Advisory Board

Law360 (March 21, 2018, 1:39 PM EDT) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2018 Immigration editorial advisory board.

The purpose of the editorial advisory board is to get feedback on Law360's coverage and gain insight from experts in the field on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of the 2018 Immigration Law360 editorial advisory board are:

Scott Bettridge, Cozen O'Connor

Scott Bettridge is the chair of Cozen O'Connor's immigration practice. He represents a broad range of corporate and individual clients in U.S. immigration and compliance matters, including Form I-9/E-verify, with a focus on global workforce mobility issues. He also represents both regional centers and individual investors in the EB-5 Immigrant Investor Program.

Susan Cohen, Mintz Levin Cohn Ferris Glovsky and Popeo PC

Susan Cohen is the founder and chair of Mintz Levin's immigration practice. She services the immigration needs of the firm's existing corporate and individual clients, and of new clients who choose the firm precisely for its knowledge of immigration and nationality law. Cohen frequently writes and speaks on immigration-related topics.

Andrew Greenfield, Fragomen, Del Rey, Bernsen & Loewy LLP

Andrew Greenfield is managing partner of Fragomen's Washington, D.C., office and member of the firm's executive committee. He advises U.S. and global employers on immigration and nationality law, regulation, policy and compliance. He counsels clients on the immigration consequences of mergers and acquisitions and other reorganizations; I-9/E-Verify, H-1B/LCA and PERM compliance and investigations; and immigration program management.

Daniel Kowalski, Bender's Immigration Bulletin

A native of Denver, Daniel Kowalski has been practicing immigration law exclusively since 1985. He is the editor-in-chief of Bender's Immigration Bulletin, published by LexisNexis, and the online editor of the LexisNexis Immigration Law Community. In 2010, Kowalski was named a senior fellow at the Institute for Justice Journalism. He is a member of IMMLAW, the National Consortium of Immigration Law Firms.

Ian Macdonald, Greenberg Traurig LLP

Ian Macdonald co-chairs Greenberg Traurig's immigration & compliance practice and the labor & employment practice's international employment, immigration & workforce strategies groups. His experience includes a range of business immigration sponsorship categories, anti-discrimination rules to reduce or eliminate risk of employment litigation, employer sanction cases, and I-9 and E-Verify compliance.

Avram Morell, Pryor Cashman LLP

Avram Morell is a partner in Pryor Cashman's immigration group, where he advises U.S. and foreign-based companies and their employees on an array of immigration matters, including visas, work authorization and permanent residence, as well as I-9 compliance and the far-reaching implications of workforce changes on immigration status. Morell also represents employers in audits and investigations.

Youngwook (Christian) Park, Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough LLP

Christian Park is of counsel in the Atlanta office of Nelson Mullins. His practice involves immigration matters pertaining to the recruitment, hiring, transfer, and retention of international workers for a broad array of clients. He represents clients in matters before the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, U.S. Department of Labor and U.S. Department of State. He advises clients on managing immigration compliance as well as optimizing a high volume corporate immigration program.

Elizabeth Espín Stern, Mayer Brown LLP

Elizabeth Stern is a partner in Mayer Brown's Washington, D.C., office, where she leads the firm's global mobility & migration practice. She advises on U.S. and global immigration, HR and mobility services. She spearheads the firm's Global People Solution™, which offers multinational companies a comprehensive compliance and risk management program in connection with their mobile workforce.

William A. Stock, Klasko Immigration Law Partners LLP

Bill Stock is one of the country's leading immigration lawyers. A founding member of Klasko Immigration Law Partners, he has practiced immigration law exclusively for over 20 years. His clients include small businesses, medium sized companies, and multinational corporations and their employees, as well as individual clients, investors and researchers.

--Editing by Emily Kokoll.