

ML Strategies Health Care Preview

Week of October 9th

While the House is out on recess, the Senate continues to be in session. This week the Senate has some non-health care related hearings scheduled as well as nomination hearings. We are looking for signals for a deal to finish work and send vulnerable Senators home to campaign.

OFFICE OF INFORMATION AND REGULATORY AFFAIRS

The Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) is a part of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) that reviews draft and proposed final regulatory actions. OIRA also publishes a list of all pending regulations. On the OIRA dashboard you can find if a pending regulation is economically significant, when it was received, and its title. However, the actual text of the regulation is not available until it clears review.

Currently, there are 16 Health and Human Services (HHS) regulations pending review. There is no timeline for review, so these regulations can clear OIRA review at any time. So although legislative action may begin to cool down, regulatory activity at OIRA could be heating up. Below are the 16 pending regulations and their received date.

HHS Regulations Pending at OIRA

- Nondiscrimination in Health Programs and Activities (04/13/2018)
