

Law360's 2020 Immigration Editorial Advisory Board

Law360 (April 9, 2020, 2:34 PM EDT) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2020 Immigration Editorial Advisory Board.

The editorial advisory board provides feedback on Law360's coverage and expert insight on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of Law360's 2020 Immigration Editorial Advisory Board are:

Alejandra Apecechea, King & Spalding LLP

Alejandra Apecechea is co-chair of King & Spalding's pro bono deportation defense initiative, UndocuNeighbor, where she represents DACA recipients, asylum-seekers and unaccompanied minors before U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services and in immigration court. She also provides strategic advice to organizations on humanitarian-based forms of immigration relief. She is a frequent speaker on DACA.

Eric Bord, Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP

Eric Bord is a leading business immigration attorney and counselor to clients on corporate immigration issues involving the recruitment, hiring, transfer and retention of personnel worldwide. He heads Morgan Lewis' immigration compliance and risk management practice and regularly advises businesses on compliance and risk management in connection with their global immigration programs.

Kim Clarke, Varnum LLP

Kim Clarke is a partner at Varnum LLP, focusing her practice on immigration matters, including nonimmigrant petitions, employment- and family-based permanent residence applications, expatriation and foreign visa issues. She is experienced in worker verification issues and managing clients through internal and agency Form I-9 audits, U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement compliance investigations and civil criminal charges.

Susan Cohen, Mintz Levin Cohn Ferris Glovsky and Popeo PC

Susan Cohen is a nationally recognized immigration lawyer and founding chair of Mintz's immigration practice. She structures innovative and effective solutions for corporate clients to address their unique immigration challenges. She has contributed to federal and state immigration regulations, and promotes immigrants' rights through pro bono and social justice efforts.

Dillon R. Colucci, Greenberg Traurig LLP

Dillon R. Colucci practices and handles U.S. immigration concerns and helps individuals, families, professionals, skilled workers, investors and businesses live, work, invest and do business in the United States. Dillon handles a wide range of immigration matters, including nonimmigrant and immigrant employment-based cases, including EB-5 and administrative appeals.

Andrew Greenfield, Fragomen, Del Rey, Bernsen & Loewy LLP

Andrew Greenfield is the managing partner of Fragomen's Washington, D.C., office and member of the firm's executive committee. He advises employers on immigration and nationality law and compliance and counsels clients on the immigration consequences of mergers and acquisitions and other reorganizations, as well as I-9/E-Verify, H-1B/LCA and PERM compliance and government investigations.

Sandy Hom, Reid & Wise LLC

Judge Sandy Hom was the first Asian American appointed to the U.S. Immigration Court on the East Coast by U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno in April 1993 and served over 27 years before he retired in July 2018. He has joined Reid & Wise LLC, a cross-border law firm with offices in Shanghai and Los Angeles as the head of immigration.

Brianna Pomatico, Orrick Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP

Brianna Pomatico is a managing associate at Orrick Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP. As a member of Orrick's global employment and equity compensation group, Brianna's practice focuses on cross-border comparative employment law including immigration. Prior to joining Orrick, Brianna practiced corporate immigration law at Proskauer Rose LLP and Fragomen. Brianna was recently named a 2019 Law360 Rising Star.

Nadia Yakoob, Nadia Yakoob & Associates

Managing attorney of Nadia Yakoob & Associates, a California boutique immigration law firm, Nadia has more than 20 years of experience in immigration law, including five years as a staff attorney at the Ninth Circuit's immigration group. She graduated from Georgetown University's Law Center where she was the editor-in-chief of the Georgetown Immigration Law Journal.
